STORY

Nire, Hajime, and Ryou are childhood friends. Now that they're in high school, they spend their days practicing for the school's marching band. But the talk, due to having too few members, is about to shut down. And Nire, who wavers between the athletic but gentle Hajime and the brother-like Ryou, must decide between the two. A youthful and heart-warming love triangle is about to begin!

NO, WE WOULDN'T BE

YES,
THIS WAS

THE SCHOOL

EVERYONE

ONCE THE 800

THE CLUB

AT FIELD

THERE'S A

HEY!

HEY!

YES... I

THAT'S EXACTLY
WHAT WE NEED TO DO NOW IS PUT OUR

About "Kono Saka ni Hitoke".

This is my first work that used references. When I was drawing this story, I watched the Softens High School marching band and used them as references. As to why I wanted to do a story on a marching band, it's because a long time ago, I tried it out, but now I've pretty much forgotten all of it though. While I was collecting material for this manga, I remembered, "That's right! I've done this kind of stuff before!" Aw reminiscent They were all good kids, and very capable as well. They would also greet me, and it made me feel that Japan's future is very bright.

Laugh

To everyone at Softens High School, I'm very thankful to you! You have my deepest gratitude.

Because of this, I was attracted to the marching band. In my first draft, I drew a lot of scenes depicting the passion at the center of being in the marching band, but it was immediately rejected because I forgot about the love story... love... hehehe.

These three people were fun to draw, because they're easy to understand. If anyone thought "Ayuu is much better than Akijima!" I'm very sorry I put him in a more pitiful situation. But he is very popular so he will definitely find a girl that suits him more than Rina.

In my opinion, neither of these two are my type. Laugh

Regarding the actual drawing, it was hard work because there are so many instruments. But I was able to learn a lot of things. I am very happy to be able to draw these things.

Regarding "Cat Lovers".

This work originally had some science-fiction in it, where Torako had the ability to understand what animals were saying. Laugh

In the end, it had nothing to do with the story. I thought about the title for a very long time. At the time, I hadn't decided on the roles and I only had a vague idea of the contents of the story, so I really couldn't think of a title.

This is my first time drawing such an energetic girl like Torako and an S-scheduler like Saeo, so I was very worried at first. But after drawing them, I realized that their interaction was very interesting. They pretend nothing is there and sit by long for each other on their own.

But drawing animals isn't easy! Sometimes I ended drawing a human-like cat. How scary.

Incidentally, although I like cats and dogs, if I had to choose, I prefer dogs. I also like fish. Ah, that doesn't seem important.

Regarding "Love Warriors".

I remember that this work was my third one-shot after my debut and my first opportunity to do a color page (this page). Because I had never drawn a color page before at the time, I had no idea what medium I should use and what paper to use. I was in such a panic. Incidentally, even now I'm not too sure. Laugh!

Fortunately, I have a stock of coloring tools from my school days, including watercolors, color pencils, and acrylics that I couldn't bear to throw out. In the end I used those to fill in the color, but of course I was told to redraw it. Color ink is too expensive. I can't afford it! I'm too poor. Laugh!
